How much does a one-trip container cost?

One-trip containers are the best you can find in the container market. These units complete just one experience from their manufacturing location in China to their destination. The cost of one-trip containers typically runs between $2,800 and $7,000. This investment brings excellent benefits. In fact, these containers give you several advantages:

How much does a container cost at Pelican containers?

If you want to save some money, you may find good-condition containers for under $1,000 at Pelican Containers. It's best to understand the container grading system before buying: Cargo-worthy (CW). Available for $500 to $4,000, these containers are waterproof and typically 5 to 15 years old.

Are new shipping containers more expensive than used?

New containers are typically more expensive as they are in perfect condition and ready for long-term use. Used containers are less costly but have some wear and tear. Shipping container sizes and prices are directly linked to each other. The price also depends on how well the container has been maintained over time.

How much does a wind and water tight container cost?

Wind and water tight (WWT) containers are your most affordable option if you need storage solutions. These containers are usually more than 10 years old and therefore priced between $1,800 and $4,300. Here's a complete comparison of container grades: WWT containers might show visible rust and dents, but they work perfectly for storage purposes.
